PRICE TEN CENTS

New School Contract Is Signed

Last night, at 10:03 p.m. in the Roman House, the Elementary School Building Committee and the Poorvu Construction Company of Boston, signed a contract for the construction of the new school, on Wildwood Street.

The contract was for the complete construction of the school, other than equipment, and the cost stipulated was $498,439. The school will be built according to the plans and specifications originally bid on, with a few minor exceptions. All three of the committee members, E. Hayward Bliss, Nicholas De Felice and Alan Shepherd signed the contract for the town of Wilmington, and Howard H. Poorvu, the treasurer of the Poorvu Construction Co. signed for the contractor.

The new school, to be erected on the property owned by the town on Buck's Hill, will have 14 classrooms, and a library and Visual Aid room, equivalent in size to a classroom. In addition, there will be an all purpose room to be used as a cafeteria assembly hall, and gymnasium, an all electric kitchen, with stainless steel equipment, about 25 feet by 35 feet in size, a Nurse and Dental office, a reception room, teachers room, etc.

Each of the rooms for the primary children will be equipped with toilet facilities and the other 8 rooms, in the other wing will have a set of toilet facilities common to the 8 rooms. In addition, there will be two toilets accessible from the outside, for use of children using the playground, when the school is otherwise closed.

The school is to be all on one level, with the grade being only slightly above the ground, with the exception of a loading platform, in the rear, which will be at tailboard height. The only steps, leading in or out of the building will be adjacent to the loading platform, and will be an emergency exit from the all-purpose room, with four steps.

Floors in the class rooms are to be of wood, but the other floors will be concrete. The main lobby floor will be terrazo, and the corridors will have asphalt tile. In the all-purpose room the floor will be of vinyl plastic, in the library there will be court tile, and in the kitchen quarry red tile.

All ceilings will be plastered, and there will be acoustic tile

SOX SHELL TIGERS 12-5

Cormier Hits Homer

"Fergie"

June 29—The Red Sox exploded with six runs in the third inning tonight, and three more in the fourth, featured by Walt Cormier's third home run of the season, with two men on.

The Sox trailed 5-3 going into the fourth when they came up with the six tallies on just two hits.

Red Sox pitcher Bill Lambert went the distance, allowing nine hits.

The Tigers used three hurlers in trying to stop the second place Sox. Tony DeLortco started and was relieved in the third by Johnny McCabe, who was tagged for the loss.

Dick McKenna came in in the fourth and finished out.

The Sox killed a Tiger rally in the fifth when with one out and the bases full, second baseman Paul Ryan snagged a line drive and tagged the runner to second, for an unassisted double play.

MRS. DREW HOLDS A SELECTMEN'S MEETING

Mrs. Wavie Drew, West Street, re-elected a Selectman last March, had as one of her campaign points a statement that the Selectmen should meet, every week, instead of bi-monthly. Mrs. Drew holds that the town's business doesn't get a close enough check with only two meetings, by the Selectmen, every month.

Recently, Mrs. Drew announced that she was going to be in the Town Hall, every Monday, to go over accounts, and keep herself posted, and the other Selectmen could be present or not, as they chose.

THE NEW SCHOOL AND OTHER THOUGHTS

Possibly before this paper appears, Wednesday, the contract for the new Wildwood street school will have been signed. The contract, as we understand it, will call for the construction of the school in 270 days, which will mean that the building should be ready for occupancy next April. It will be welcome.

The Finance Committee made a decision, the night prior to the Town Meeting, to transfer $3,790.11 to the School Building Committee. This gave the latter committee exactly $500,000 with which to erect the building. It does not provide for the equipment in the school, but as Mr. Bliss explained at the town meeting, the additional money needed, probably $77,000 can be voted by the town, out of the Excess and Deficiency Fund, after January 1, 1954.

The decision, without doubt, was the best that could be made under the circumstances. It took a combined meeting of the Finance Committee, Board of Selectmen, and Building Committee nearly five hours to arrive at the decision, which, this time at least, demonstrates that many heads are better than one.

The transfer was made by the Finance Committee, acting under its power in the "Home Rule Law." Why then did the town have to vote the money too?

There were two good reasons. In the first place the "Home Rule Law" has not yet been tested fully, in the courts, and by the town voting, it placed its seal of approval on the deed, beyond any doubt. In the second place, as Mr. Bliss explained, the town was also morally obligating itself to vote for the additional money, after January 1st. The money is in our treasury now, but according to law cannot be touched until after the new year begins.

Another very fine feature is that our borrowing capacity remains at a better level. It is now down to $94,000. If an additional $77,000 were borrowed, we would be in a position of being able to borrow only $17,000 if a real emergency arose. Such a position would not be good.

It was this point that had led the Finance Committee from the very first to reject the additional bonds. The previous meeting had been quite hot tempered, according to accounts that we received. (Some people read our account to say that "unprintable" words had been used. We said the meeting was "hot" and that "hot" words were used. We believe there is a distinct difference.)

It was unfortunate that the news coming from that meeting did not have the Finance Committee's side of the argument. We endeavored to get it, but didn't have much luck. We did prepare an editorial, pointing out that when five men out of seven vote against a proposition there must be a good cause, even if it wasn't known, but, again, unfortunately, the editorial was lost in the shuffle, a fact that we will always regret.

The Wilmington Finance Committee always sees fit to have 100% executive meetings. In this we believe that they are in error, from a policy making standpoint. No one will deny them the right to argue in private, but we believe the public is entitled to know what facts are presented to the committee, before the argument begins.

The last two weeks has been an illustration. Fortunately, all has come out well, which, of course is to be expected, but no one knew what the Finance Committee was considering. They even excluded the Superintendent of Schools, who was a professional advisor to the committee that was appearing before them, and who is also a citizen and taxpayer of this town.

In this we think the Finance Committee was wrong. The arguments of the Superintendent of Schools, and of the Architect, who was also excluded may have had no bearing on the hearing, but how could the Finance Committee know ahead of time?

The Building Committee, too, was just as wrong. They should not have attempted to put their arguments before any board of the town, without their professional advisors being present. What are they paying their advisors for?

THE POWER TO DESTROY

Last week the Crusader published the reply of the Town Manager, to the Board of Selectmen, about the Dance Floor, at Silver Lake park. We do not agree with the philosophy of that letter. We can appreciate the position of our Town Manager. He made a decision in good faith, and then discovered that what had considered to be a cement slab more closely resembled a hornet's nest.

Mr. Cushing stated that the floor was dangerous. That of course, is a matter of opinion. A cement sidewalk, under certain conditions, can be dangerous too. Our TM stated, (at another time) that the floor was broken up. That is not in accord with our memory, but we could be wrong. It took much longer than was expected to destroy the floor, so much so that the waiting trucks were sent to other tasks. The floor is gone, however, so let's forget it.

It is the philosophy of the letter that disturbs us. If one Town Manager can make such a decision, what is to prevent the next one, by extension, to make a still stronger decision? If one man can order one thing, such as a dance floor destroyed, then it follows that the next one can order the see-saws in a public park destroyed, or anything else, even up to the Town Hall.

This was not an administrative decision. Administrative decisions are those involving sweeping streets, making up payrolls, installing water services, etc. This was a decision which was out of the ordinary. The trouble was that there was no provision for making such a decision.

Consider, for instance, the Board of Appeals. Nearly every week this board is called on to make a decision which is out of the ordinary. They advertise that there will be a public hearing. Anyone who wishes to, may attend, be he an individual, or be it a club or group. The board listens to everything, and makes its own decisions. They have not surrendered any of their powers, yet the decision is essentially democratic.

Many of our fellow townsmen have served in the Army or Navy. They can well recall that these organizations have a central administrative power far more powerful than we do under our Town Manager plan. Yet, nothing is destroyed, (except in battle, or through loss) without a proper consideration being made, first. Many of our citizens will recall that there is a "Board of Survey" which considers the facts before the decision is made.

Wilmington should have something like a "Board of Survey," to be called on if anything is to be destroyed. It could consist of a committee, to give recommendations, after a public hearing. Such a committee could be a regular part of the town government, or it could be appointed anytime the need arose. We believe it would save a lot of headaches, and at the same time give the people of the town the right to express their opinions, before waking up some morning to discover that something else is missing!

OLD AGE INSURANCE

This is one of a series of articles on old-age and survivors insurance under the Social Security Act. These articles were prepared by your social security office at 10 Kearney Square, Lowell, Mass. You can get more information from that office by visiting there, writing, or telephoning 2-5101--2-9796.

Benefits that are paid under the Social Security Act can be divided into two classes, retirement benefits and survivors benefits. This article will list the retirement benefits and tell who is eligible to receive them.

1. Old-age insurance benefits are paid to the insured individual himself. The amount paid is the primary insurance amount. In other words, if the primary insurance amount is $65, this will be paid to the retired insured person every month.

2. Wife's benefits are paid to the wife over 65 of an insured person who is living with him. It may also be paid to the wife under 65 if she is taking care of his children under 18 who are entitled to benefits. This benefit is one-half the primary amount is $65, the wife would receive $32.50.

3. Dependent husband's benefits are payable to the husband over 65 of a woman who is both fully and currently insured. He must be living with his wife when he files and must have been receiving at least 50 per. of his support from her. The amount is the same as a wife gets.

4. Child's benefits are paid to children under 18 of the insured person if the children are dependent on him. These payments are made until the children are 18, unless they die or marry before that time. Each child receives one-half of the primary amount.

No payments can be made to any person, either on his own account, or based on another person's unless he files application for it. Some payments can be made retroactive, but only for a maximum of six months. For this reason, it is a good idea to visit your social security office at 10 Kearney Square, Lowell, Mass., as soon as you are thinking of retiring.

These payments are called retirement payments since they cannot be made unless the insured person is 65 or over and has stopped working in effect. If the insured person earns more than $75 in a month in work covered by the act, or earns more than $75 a month on an average from self-employment, his payments must be stopped, and so must those to his wife, children, or to a dependent husband. If a member of his family; his wife, for example, has earnings of more than $75 a month, that person's payments may be stopped, but it will not affect the insured person's benefits. If the benefits are stopped because of earnings of more than the amount permitted by the act, they will be started again when the individual no longer has those earnings. Before September 1952, the amount of earnings from covered work or self-employment that a beneficiary was permitted to have was $50 in a month.

RED GROUPE

The term Grouper covers a considerable number of usually superior marine food fishes. The Red Grouper is not considered by some fish specialists to be a true Grouper. Rather it is classed with the Hinds and Cabrillas. The true Groupers are wider between the eyes than the Hinds and Cabrillas and in general are smaller fishes not usually reaching above 40 pounds in weight. The Red Grouper rarely weighs as much as 40 pounds and the usual fish caught by hook and line runs around 1 to 5 pounds.

The Red Grouper, like its relatives, has the habit of driving into obstructions when it is hooked. Frequently this results in a cut line and freedom for the fish. The Red Grouper does not occur in schools as do some of its relatives. The fish is a poor fighter and slow in its actions but the flesh is excellent and the animals bring a good price in commercial markets. Commercial harvesting of Red Groupers is common in the fishing banks off the west coast of Florida. The method followed is using a hook and line and a piece of fish as bait. Normal diet of the Red Grouper includes molluscs, crustaceans and fish. The food is taken in day or night.

Red Groupers range from New England to the West Indies and are possibly most abundant in shallow waters over coral around the Florida Keys. They are well

The Red Grouper grows to a length of 3 feet. It is basically brownish but often mottled with indistinct darker spots. There are however about the eyes definite darker spots. At the base series of obscure saddle-like of the tail there seems to be a patches.

The fins including the tail are colored essentially like the remainder of the fish except that there sometimes seems to be an obscure, dark band running horizontally along the back fin and there may be dark or light margins along the edges of the paired fins. The head is large and bears a correspondingly large mouth. The fins are all relatively large and do not indicate any ability to swim rapidly. The end of the tail is straight or slightly concave in outline.

HEALTH FOR ALL
A Good Neighbor

The neighborhood gossip has it that Mr. Jones who just moved into the white house up the block is a former tuberculosis patient. There's a lot of talk. People are wondering if it's safe to have him around. Is it all right for our children to play with his? Can we have him over for dinner, sit next to him in church, or work with him at the factory?

It is safe to be around an ex-TB patient if his doctor has recommended his discharge from the TB hospital. Give Mr. Jones a chance and he will be one of the best neighbors we have. In fact, he's one of the few people you can be sure won't be passing on TB germs. He has had the disease and been cured. You can know for sure that he is non-infectious. The most serious danger of infection comes from the person who has TB but doesn't know it and from the person who knows he has TB but won't follow doctor's orders.

One of the most important things Mr. Jones learned in the TB hospital while he was getting well was how to live so that he would never again break down with TB, never again be a danger to those around him. When you have him over for dinner, you may find that he'll go home earlier than the rest of the crowd.

He has to be extra careful about getting enough rest and sleep. He has to stick to his "training rules" as carefully as an athlete preparing for a big game. He sees his doctor frequently and has regular X-rays to make sure that he is in good health. The kind of work he does and the kind of recreation he takes have been carefully chosen so that they will not overtax his strength.

As an ex-patient, Mr. Jones has some real problems that we can help him solve. Some people may be afraid of him. There may be some prejudice against him due to ignorance. It isn't easy to adjust to normal living after a long period of illness. He wants more than anything to be a good neighbor, a self-supporting, useful member of the community. We can help by showing people that we welcome him to the neighborhood. We can help by encouraging his efforts to live as he must to prevent a recurrence of the disease.

NEW SCHOOL CONTRACT SIGNED

on the walls of all classrooms, above the blackboards. Beneath the blackboards will be dado. The corridors will be glazed tile, in the walls, and plaster above.

Several supply rooms will be available to the staff, and to the janitor, including a tool room, with an outside entrance. A chair storage room will double as a coat room, when the chairs are set up in the cafeteria, as for instance, in meetings held during an evening.

The outside of the school will be brick, with steel sash, and some glass block panels. Construction of the new school is scheduled to start within five days of the signing of the contract. Construction is expected to be slow at first, because steel is unavailable, there being at the present time a strike in the steel fabricating industry. The Poorvu company hopes to have the roof on before Christmas, and to turn the school over to the town next April.

SUMMER CAMPING IS FUN

Regular Tuesday evening meetings of Boy Scout Troop 1 will continue throughout the summer at the Junior High School Gym. The meetings, for the most part, have been taking the troop out-of-doors for nature adventuring, hiking, and games. July 12, Sunday, the combined troops, parents, committeemen, leaders, friends, enemies, are invited to participate in a big spaghetti feed at Camp Forty Acres. Menu will include Rosa's Spaghetti Ala Savory meat sauce, with Boy Scout Bug Juice. The admission is free-free for all who show up with hammer, saw, brush hooks, muscles, and work cloths. No need to bring along an appetite because an opportunity will be given to work up a grand appetite on incidental camp improvements — Cabin construction, Dam improvement, and well engineering — while Michael Rosa cooks up the chow. Join us at Forty Acres on Sunday July 12. Plenty of Parking Space.

American and British Marines wear somewhat similar insignia. The U. S. Marine emblem shows a globe, eagle and anchor; while the British wear a globe encircled by a laurel wreath, together with a small anchor, a lion and a crown.

TOWN NOTES

WE HAVE OUR SHARE

All around us we hear complaints about the dry weather. The woods of New Hampshire are in bad condition, because of the lack of rain, and the Boston weather bureau says that it may be the driest month on record there.

Wilmington, however, had plenty of rain during the last week. Two thundershowers gave us a total of 1.19 inches in one week. There was

.84 inches on the 22nd and 1.07 inches on the 26th.

The North Wilmington pumping station has noticed the demand for water drop down, as a consequence.

THAT FIGHTING MAN

Johnny McAuliffe, that fighting man from Dorchester avenue, is home again, after having spent a second tour of duty at Korea. He arrived home at 3 a.m. Sunday, and after 14 days in the old home town, he is going to leave again — for Korea!

BLUEBERRIES

At least one family in Wilmington had blueberry muffins, last Sunday.

THE RACING FRATERNITY

We have three good stories, this week. The first concerns a man named George, (and he doesn't run a restaurant). He was invited along, with a party of six, to the dog tracks, in Revere, one evening last week. The six men had made up a pool, and explained to our hero the mechanics of the pool wouldn't allow a seventh person into it. That was all right, with our friend.

The six men went into a huddle, using such familiar devices as an astrological chart, and hunches, to decide on which dog they were going to bet. George just bet on a dog. Of course it was George's dog who won. Everyone was amazed, and especially when the same thing happened in the next race, and again in the third. How did he do it?

George didn't want to tell. He thought that they would laugh at him. The boys assured him they wouldn't. Finally George came through with the secret. He had bet on the first dog in the first race, and on the fourth dog in the second, and again in the third. Why should he bet on those dogs? He had seen a number plate, on the way to the races, that read 144.

Our second story concerns a dog named "swifty" or something like that. A very good tip, a couple of weeks ago, was neglected by the local racing fraternity, and then the dog came in on first place. A second such tip came through, last Friday. We don't know if anyone followed up the tip or not, but we were going to look in the paper next morning to see if the dog won, only we forgot to, so we still don't know.

Our third story concerns a fellow who had a hunch on a certain horse. He called a "bookie" in Lowell, and put $10 "on the nose". His hunch continued, so he called another bookie in Boston, and bet another $40. That afternoon, the Lowell bookie sent down $50 for our friend, because the horse had won, so all afternoon our friend was mentally spending the other $250.

When the money didn't arrive, he called the Boston bookie, only to be told that the horse had not won! He didn't believe the news until he had listened to the racing reports, on the radio that night. The saddest part of the tale is that the Lowell bookie sent down and collected the $50 which had been paid in error.

IMPROVEMENTS

We have been noticing a few improvements, around town. A playground sign has been put up on the approaches to the Common, which is a very good idea, and in a few places, a lot of brush has been cut from the triangles, where streets meet, so that they look much neater.

THE GOLDEN PEA SPOON

The Golden Pea Spoon, mythical award made every year by the Wilmington Crusader, to the person who first has a mess of peas from his back yard garden, in Wilmington, goes this year to Leland Black, of Lowell street. Mr. Black lives just this side of the Reading line, and is a carpenter by profession. He planted Laxton's Early Progress, in mid march, and his garden has a southerly exposure. Congratulations, Mr. Black! June 12th is the earliest date we have ever heard of, for Wilmington.

TOWN VOTES SCHOOL IN TWENTY MINUTES

More than 200 voters were present, in the cafeteria of the High School, last Thursday at 8:14 p.m. where they will start their order. After the reading of the warrant had been dispensed with, on motion of Selectman Black, E. Hayward Bliss moved that $3790.11 be transferred, as authorized by the Finance Committee, to the present School Building Committee, to be used in construction of the new school on Wildwood street. Herbert Barrows, chairman of the Finance Committee stated that the committee approved, and that the transfer had already been made, the night previous, from the Reserve Account.

Bliss explained to the voters that the Finance Committee had agreed to make the transfer, to bring the cash account of the building committee up to an even $500,000, which was a little more than $1500 needed to construct the building. There was no money in this account, Bliss said, for the equipping of the building, and that would probably cost another $77,000. He told the townspeople that, in voting for this transfer, they were morally obligating themselves to vote an additional $77,000 after January 1st, when the money could be transferred from "Free Cash."

It was explained to the townspeople that the voting of $77,000 in the form of a loan, at this time, would bring the borrowing power of the town down to $17,000, which was a dangerous low. In order to equip the four halls that were being used as schools, this winter, it was planned to "borrow" furniture from the new school. This furniture would cost about $5,000 Bliss said and he had no doubt but that the contractor would have no objections, inasmuch as the money would not be going to him until the time when the school was completed anyway. "It is a sort of borrowing from Peter to pay Paul," Bliss said, "but it can be done all right."

The town voted unanimously in favor of the transfer.

The second article, for the evening, was moved by Charles Black, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Black moved that $7865 be transferred from available funds for payment on the account of school bonds and bonds on the new Police-Fire station. The payment, Mr. Black said, is due in September. Larz Neilson spoke briefly, in favor of the transfer. Mr. Neilson said that he had heard people say that there was something wrong, because this had not been included in the annual budget. He assured the townspeople that none of the town employees were at fault, they had all done the proper thing, at the proper time as far as this payment was concerned, and that the boards and committees who considered this payment last December had foreseen it, but had decided that it might not have been paid, and had therefore not included it in the budget. "Any person who now finds these boards and committees at fault is just a Monday morning quarterback," said Mr. Neilson.

The town voted unanimously in favor of the transfer, and the meeting was adjourned.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS NOTED DOG BREEDER

Mrs. Walter Gill, owner of the Carlisle Kennels of Lowell, and owner of the International Champion Bulldog, was the speaker of the day at the Wilmington Rotary Club luncheon, last week. Mrs. Gill has over 150 trophies, and 500 ribbons, which her dogs have won, under American Kennel rules of competition. She is also the editor of the "Bulletin" of the Bulldog Club of New England.

People always seem to think of the bulldog as being a vicious beast, Mrs. Gill declared. Actually this is not so, and I hope that the next time you meet one you don't get off the sidewalk, for you will not be in need of any such action.

The bulldog is known to exist as a breed since 1390. It was used, for many years, for the so-called sport of Bull Bating. A bull would be secured to a chain, about five feet long, in a pit, and the dog would be thrown in. By the time of Henry VIII this was considered to be a very great sport, and dogs were bred so as to bring out their characteristic short nose, so that they could better hang on to the bull, and their legs were shortened so they could approach the bull in a very low crawl, yet, spring when the time came. This of course bred the vicious spirit into the dog, but after a while the sport died out, and finally the bulldog owners decided to breed out the viciousness. This was done by crossing with other dogs, notably the greyhound. Other dogs, such as the Boston terrier are offshoots of the bulldog breed. The Bulldog still retains his courage, but the ugly vicious strain is gone.

Bulldogs are difficult dogs to grow. Their tremendous shoulders make whelping difficult. For some reason, too, the dogs always seem to whelp at 2 o'clock in the morning, never, for instance at a nice hour in the afternoon, so that a breeder has his troubles. Sometimes the mother is ill afterwards, and this increases the difficulties.

I can recall one case in which eight puppies were born at 2 o'clock on a Thursday morning. The mother became ill, and was unable to take care of her puppies for a couple of days. Finally by Sunday she was in better condition so as to be able to take care of her puppies but we were mighty tired folks, at that time. Next day a man came in and wanted to know if we had any pups. We told him that we had a litter of eight, which would be for sale in a few weeks. He wanted to pay, right then, and asked the price. We told him that common pups were $100, those that showed promise of being a show dog were $150, and those that we definitely knew were of champion caliber were $250. The man smiled, and confessed that he was expecting to have to pay $15, as he wanted to buy one for his little girl.

Actually, these prices are not high. It costs money to raise the dogs. The stud fee is $50 alone, not to mention the other costs.

One of the very interesting things about dog breeding is the dog shows. One has to go to the shows, if one is a breeder. It is necessary so that you can become known, and it isn't just a casual appearance that is called for, either! It costs $5 to enter a dog in the show, and there is plenty of information that is called for, which must be supplied. Every bit of information is checked by the American Kennel Club, and any deliberate misinformation, or restriction of information, results in a barring, by the Kennel Club.

Recently, in Boston, for instance, we had a two day show. Every dog, and every owner was supposed to be present, from about 10 a.m. to about 10 p.m. both days. The dog must be in his position during this time, and, I am sorry to say, it is necessary for the dog's owner to watch him all the time, because for some strange reason it always seems that there are people who try to poison the dogs, feed them strychnine in hamburger, for instance.

In this particular case, there was a Southern gentleman who had entered his dog, but it was not on the bench the first day. Like the other owners, I had entered this fact on my entry sheet. Next day his dog was still missing for the bench, and again we noted it. Then, when it came time for the championship judging, this southern gentleman brought up his dog, which he had been keeping in the cellar, all the time. The dog was fresh as a daisy, compared to our dogs, which had two days of wear and tear from being on the bench. We owners didn't like it, and apparently the judge didn't either, for he would not allow the dog to be shown.

The path for champion is long and difficult. First he must try for the Blue Ribbon. These are won, actually in three classes, and the judges are quite particular. I can recall one time when there was only one dog shown, of a particular class. The judges awarded the dog a 3rd place. It's owner protested, and the judge told the owner that if there had been two other dogs, the dog would have won third place anyway, so 3rd place was all that was going to be allowed!

After the dog has won his blue ribbon, he is pitted against six other blue ribbon winners, and they then try for points. It is only as the points mount up that a dog is on his way to a championship.

The contest is held for the males, and then for the females. Afterwards the winner in these two are pitted against each other for "best of winners", which wins a blue and white ribbon.

The dogs are then grouped as to whether they are of the "sporting" or "non-sporting" classification, and finally, if a dog is good enough, he will come out with the "Best of Champion" ribbon, an ornate purple and yellow rosette type ribbon.

The competition, in these shows, is intense, and there is an awful lot of cut-throat activity, at times. Of course every one wants to show his dog to the best advantage, and some owners have developed a cute habit of getting in front of you, to throw your dog off stride. It is a very cute trick, which is done in apparent innocence, but we are wise to it.

Hot weather is hard on dogs and frequently one of them will suffer from heat prostration. The best thing to do if a dog is so afflicted is to place a menthol crystal on his tongue, and then make sure he is kept wet, until he recovers. Put him in a rain barrel, so that just his head is out of water, or turn the hose on him, and keep it going.

There used to be a time when dog owners had difficulty in traveling, but that day has now passed. The hotels recognize that our dogs are well trained, and we are welcome, today. Our dogs are conditioned to be handled by strangers, because, of course, the judges are all strangers.

We very rarely have any trouble now, as a result.

I can recall an amusing incident, connected with dog-shows. A Canadian owner once was bragging about his dog, before a show in Montreal. He told me that his dog had never lost a match, and I was quite impressed. I spoke about it, later to another Canadian dog owner, and he explained that this particular dog had never lost a show, because it had never been entered in a show.

Dogs like to be trained, and there is nothing that we like about untrained dogs. It is very easy to teach a dog to be a gentleman. One problem that some dog owners have at times is that their dogs bark at night. This takes a little patience, but the dog can be taught to stop. Each time he barks, the owner must go out, and strike him on the hind quarters with a folded up newspaper, after which the dog must be muzzled for about 10 minutes. It takes a little patience, but it always works. Pretty soon he gets the idea that he isn't supposed to bark at night.

The U.S. Marine Corps was founded November 10, 1775, in Philadelphia. Its first commandant was Major Samuel Nicholas.

GIRL SCOUT DAY CAMP CLOSING TOMORROW

The first day of the Wilmington Girl Scouts has been a tremendous success. Operating in the wooded area behind the High School, the camp has had 53 Wilmington girls for four days a week learning outdoor life, and the arts. Tomorrow, Thursday, will be the last day of the camp, this year.

Named Wigisdaca, which means

Wilmington Girl Scouts Day Camp, the camp had a total of 12 councilors, from the Wilmington Girl Scouts, approximately one to every four girls, and offered a wide range of activities, to interest girls from seven to thirteen. Included in the activities was volley ball, archery, scavenger hunts, outdoor cooking, bird and leaf identification, leather work and a trip to Camp Runel, N. H. the Lowell Council Girl Scout Camp.

Girls were divided into three units, according to their ages and interests. Unit One, for the older girls, age 11 - 13, Unit Two for girls 9 to 11 and Unit Three for girls 7 to 9. A trained nurse was always in attendance, with the band room of the High School being the first aid station, and all girls were checked by the nurse daily. Other than this and a few other purposes, the High School was not used at all, and all activities were confined to the wooded area some distance in back of the school building.

The day started at 9:30 am, with a flag raising ceremony, and was carefully scheduled, so that the girls were under complete schedule at all times, including a rest period, after lunch. Busses, from the McIntyre Bus Company made the round of Wilmington, every morning, to bring the girls to the camp, and to take them home. Money for bus hire had been earned by the girls, earlier in the season, during the Girl Scout Cookie Sale, and addition all funds were donated by the Wilmington Community Fund.

Mrs. Paula Rice, Linda Road, was Camp Director. Other ladies who assisted were Mrs. Priscilla Lawler, Mrs. Doris Traer, Mrs. Josephine Helwig, Mrs. Louise Robertson, Mrs. Shirley Lyons, Mrs. Elsie Woolaver, Mrs. Barbara Zanos, Mrs. Jean Webster, Mrs. Connie Widger, Miss Carol Hansen, Mrs. Marjorie Emery and Mrs. Elaine Stickney.

Today, from 10 am to 2 pm is open house, at Camp Wigisdaca, and tomorrow the camp will close for the summer, tried and proved success.

CASEY HITS THREE HOMERS BUT SOX LOSE TO YANKS

"Fergie" June 24 — Mighty Butch Casey clouted three home runs today to set a Wilmington Little League record, but Big Butch's performance took second prize as his team, the Red Sox, bowed to the Yanks, 12-8. This triumph of the Yanks, 12-8 out sad memories of a 21-6 setback at the hands of the Sox June 21.

The previous record of two circuit clouts in one game was set by mighty Butch on June 10, when the Sox routed the Indians, 19-5. Butch today drove in seven of his team's eight runs with two-run clouts in the third and sixth, and one in the fifth that drove in three. The sixth-inning homer was a tremendous 200 footer that sailed high over the deep centerfield fence.

A total of 28 hits was collected by both teams. The Yankees banged out 15 against starter Bill Lambert, who was tagged for the loss, and reliever Bill Thompson. Junior Monteiro went the distance on the hits.

The Yankee scoring was well scattered except for the big fifth. They tallied three in the third, two in the fourth and sixth, and five in the fifth.

The Yanks sent 10 men to the plate in that fifth, seven hitting safely for three doubles and four singles.

First-baseman Bobby Kerr of the Yanks was a standout.

Little Bob collected two doubles in five trips and drove in three runs. Many observers claim that Bob's defensive play was a deciding factor in the Yank's triumph.

The fifty first sacker made three terrific saves on in-the-dirt throws, and saved countless other wide-angle heaves from going astray.

INJURIES SUSTAINED IN ACCIDENT

Aloyse Clarke, 3 Central street, Charlestown, was taken to the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, in the Wilmington police ambulance, by officers Palace and Cuoco, Sunday evening, after she had sustained injuries in an accident on Marion street. She was found to have a cut left elbow, left knee and right foot, and was thought to have sustained other injuries. Driver of the car was Robert Clark, same address.

REAL ESTATE SALES REMAIN ACTIVE

Real estate sales in Wilmington, are more active this year than they were in the last year, according to figures released by the Suffolk First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Boston. This fact is contrary to the trend for the greater Boston area in general, which has had a 10 percent decrease in sales this year.

The median figure, for May, of sales per thousand population, in towns of less than 10,000 was 4.71. This was the figure for Wilmington, and ahead of Wilmington were Carlisle, 10.25; Hull, 10.21; Nahant, 7.91; Canton, 6.86; Burlington, 6.69; Cohasset, 6.50; Rockport, 6.22; Lynnfield, 6.11; Manchester, 5.97; Maynard, 5.46; Westwood, 4.97; and Sherborn 4.82. Median figure for the larger municipalities was 2.35.

Other towns, nearby had fewer deeds this year, in proportion to last year, with the average being 13 percent off. North Reading had 4.30 deeds per thousand, Woburn 3.01; Reading and Winchester both had 2.38 and Stoneham 2.04.

Up to the first of June there were a total of 178 real estate transfers in Wilmington this year, as against 146 last year, at this time. For the month of May, this year, there were 38 transfers, and there were 25 in May a year ago.

RAMBLERS UPSET, SALEM IN OPENER

"Fergie"

June 28-A two-run rally in the ninth rocked the North Shore baseball circle on its heels today, and brought the new Wilmington semi-pro team, the Ramblers, to a 3-2 triumph over St. Anne's of Salem.

St. Anne's undefeated kings of semi-pro ball in the upper North Shore, were amazed with the performance of the unknown Wilmington team, who opened their season at Salem.

The Ramblers were trailing 2-1 going into the first of the ninth, when Ethier reached first on a dropped third strike, stole second, and scored on Jay Tighe's single.

With two out, and Tighe on third, Fran Hoban hit a high bouncer over the pitcher's head to send in the tie-breaking run.

St. Anne's tried to put on a last ditch rally in the last of the ninth, when one of their men singled to left. But relief pitcher Earl Baldwin quelled their efforts by setting down the rest of the men one-two-three, chalking up his first semi-pro victory.

Big Tex Johnson started on the mound for the Ramblers, but was hampered by a sore arm, and was relieved in the fourth by Baldwin.

Tex yielded two hits and two runs in his three inning stint. Earl gave up four hits, and blanked Salem the rest of the way, with good support behind him. The Ramblers collected six hits off Salem pitching.

This was definitely a team victory with everyone digging in to contribute to the upset.

"That's the hustlingest ball club I've seen in years," said the Salem coach, in praising the Ramblers. "They never give up—by the way, where is Wilmington?"

First-baseman Jay Tighe was instrumental in Wilmington's victory, accounting for all three runs.

Aside from his ninth-inning performance, Jay also doubled in the seventh, went to third on Frank DiPiano's ground ball, and scored the first Rambler run on another grounder by Dave Newhouse.

Tighe played a stellar role on the bag with his countless scoops on in-the-dirt throws.

Overconfidence struck the Salem squad upon seeing the small Wilmington team with each player wearing a different color and type of uniform.

"We'll have to take it easy on these hicks," a Salem lad yelled.

Many of his team-mates merely surveyed the "hicks" and laughed—a perfect setup for the last laugh situation.

ACCIDENT ON WESTDALE AVENUE

A Studebaker, driven by Edgar D. Blamy Jr., 52 North Street, Stoneham, was in collision with a bicycle ridden by David Kearnstead, 8, of 8 Crest avenue, on Westdale avenue, at 8:20 p.m. June 28th. Young Kearnstead was taken to a physician by his parents.

CORRECTION

Last week's paper carried an account of an accident on Chestnut street. The source of the story was evidently not too sure of the facts. A correction appears below.

Melbourne Crowell, 12, of Hillside Way was taken to the Choate Memorial Hospital, after an accident on Chestnut street, last week. Crowell was riding to work on his bicycle, which was four years old, and became involved in a collision with a car driven by Thomas Haynes of Chestnut street. Supposedly because of the poor visibility, he was struck on the leg, by the fender of the car, and sustained a broken leg, at a point which had been broken about 18 months previously. The bicycle was crushed, beneath the car.

That's "ON THE SQUARE"

Newman's - the Flower Shop that's "On The Square" is at 688 Main Street in Reading which makes it a handy place for people of Wilmington to take care of their floral needs.

Distinctive designs for every occasion that calls for flowers are the specialty of this house, and for Weddings, Funerals, Church affairs, etc. their work bears a mark of superiority that reflects the skill and integrity of the proprietor, Mr. Newman.

Flowers have come to be regarded as almost a universal language. With them you can quietly, yet beautifully express any sentiment. When words fail you can say it with flowers. Therefore, Newman's is a place that can serve you all the year round and not just on the special days.

Many people think of flowers only on special occasions such as Easter, Mothers Day, Christmas, etc. Then the great demand far exceeding the supply causes the price of flowers to rise as it would any other commodity. Most times of the year however, you will find at Newman's a wide variety of fresh cut flowers that will grace your home and lend an atmosphere of charm and beauty at surprisingly inexpensive cost.

The Bridal Bouquet, a most important part of that great day in a girl's life receives very special attention when the flowers are by Newman.

The next time flowers are in order, order them from Newman. You are sure to be pleased with the service.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN B. GREEN

WILMINGTON TEACHER WEDS IN WOBURN

Miss Barbara Jane Connors, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henry Connors, 10 Poole Street, Woburn, became the bride of Mr. John Brendon Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius W. Green, 107 Livingston Avenue, Lowell, in a 10 a.m. ceremony at St. Anthony's Church, Woburn, on June 20th. The Rev. John Mansfield celebrated the Nuptial Mass, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The couple took their vows before an altar decorated with white gladioli and blue snapdragons. Mr. Guy Rotondo, soloist, sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "O Lord, I am not Worthy," and "On this Day." He was accompanied by Mr. Edson Kimball, at the organ.

Maid of honor was Miss Shirley Connors, of Woburn, a sister of the bride, while bridesmaids were the Misses Nancy Green and Patricia Green, both of Lowell, and sisters of the groom and the Misses Joan Connors and Grace Pierce, of Woburn, cousins of the bride.

Flower girls was Janet Green, of Dracut, niece of the groom.

Miss Connors wore a gown fashioned of Chantilly lace over nylon tulle and satin, with a Queen Anne collar, and a fitted bodice. The skirt ended in a sweeping train, which was designed with a nylon pleated godet. A chapel length veil of imported French illusion was caught to a crown of lace and pleated nylon.

The maid of honor was in a ballerina length gown of aqua nylon over taffeta, and the skirt was adorned with rows of narrow satin ribbon. She carried a cascade of yellow rosebuds, and wore a picture hat to match her gown. The bridesmaids gowns which were pink, were fashioned in the same style as that of the maid of honor. Each of the bridesmaids carried flowing cascades of deep pink rose buds and babies breath.

Best man was Mr. Gerald Green, a brother of the groom, from Dracut. Ushers were Mr. Thomas Green, a brother of the groom, of Lowell, Mr. Joseph Connors, Jr., of Woburn, a brother of the bride, Mr. Robert Hayes of Lowell and Mr. James Nelligan of Lowell.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Briarcliffe Lodge, Lynn. Mrs. Thomas J. Meade was in charge of the guest book. For her place in the reception line, the mother of the bride was gown in an egg-shell lace dress with pink accessories. The mother of the groom wore a slate blue silk shantung dress, with white accessories.

After a wedding trip to upper New York state and Canada, the newly married couple will live at 63 School Street, Woburn.

The bride was educated in the Woburn public schools and in Lowell State Teachers College, and is a teacher in the Wilmington public schools. Mr. Green is a graduate of Notre Dame Academy, Keith Academy, and received his AB degree from Harvard University. He has attended Boston University for graduate studies, and he is employed by the Gil Wyner Company of Malden, as a cost accountant.

Enlisted men of the Continental Marines wore green shirts, green coats with red facings, breeches of light-colored cloth, woolen stocking and round, green hats with white bindings.

POWER OF THE VATICAN

One of the phenomena of the Vatican is the number of non-Catholics who visit there in these times. Of course, there are many who come frankly as sightseers. Many more come who are disturbed over the likelihood of war, and who wish to judge for themselves the spiritual power for peace of the Holy See. Most of them come away in a state of awe, having seen the Mother Church of Christianity and quite possibly the Pope himself in one of the great public audiences. Even the most cynical who come admit that the Church has brought down through the ages a power for serenity of the soul, unmatched in history. They further admit that that Pontiff conveys a spiritual effect most unusual in these realistic times. It is much like a racial memory—something long since forgotten—of faith in goodness and a hint of what is meant by piety.

Among those of other faiths this effect is relived over and over. Many Americans who pride themselves on their practical sense wonder aloud how best the spiritual power of the Vatican could be utilized to stop war and halt the spread of communism.

One method often discussed is the sending of an ambassador from the U.S. to the Vatican. It is argued that the Eisenhower Administration has a sincere spiritual approach to the problem of peace. Home is the spiritual capacity for millions of deeply religious people who should be able to speak to each other over the widest possible extent. Britain, which is officially Protestant, has representatives at the Vatican, and so does Japan and other countries. Why shouldn't the United States? Of course, there are Americans who argue that to suggest our joining other nations, in open representation at the Vatican, would be like waving a red flag at a bull. Even for a unanimous concerted drive of all Christendom for peace, decency, dignity of the individual against the great force of destruction—even with the high and heartfelt aim, it is unthinkable. And from others—rarely from those who are familiar with the Vatican and its works—sometimes comes the criticism that the Church is not fighting communism effectively and is no match for the Kremlin.

The answer is that the Church has never lost a battle to tyranny. The mere fact that visitors can still go to St. Peter's and see the tomb of the martyr is proof that the Church, which was founded near 2,000 years ago, remains still a tremendous spiritual force. The communists by their own tactics give the answer to the critics of the Church. In every instance where the Kremlin has decreed armed revolts, the Church has been the first target. As in Spain, the Reds have sacked churches and have murdered priests and nuns, so as to rid themselves of their worst enemy. Red action has been carefully planned, primarily because the churches offer a sanctuary. And when this sanctuary is destroyed, terror is created in the minds of the helpless.

The debasement and oppression of Catholic clergy behind the Iron Curtain is a manifestation of this communist strategy.

Even though Americans may discount the power of the Vatican, the communists do not make such a mistake. It is a wonder that nothing authoritative has been written of the communist onslaught on the churches of Spain at the outset of the Spanish Civil War. Our State Department is said to have done an excellent job of reporting the destruction and the murder of 50,000 clergy and nuns.

Such a work would automatically be a blueprint of what to expect when the signal for revolt is given. It might remedy some soft-headed thinking by people who believe that the communist is only another variety of political crackpot.

The attempt to destroy the Church has been going on for centuries. Its present enemy is rigidly organized and tactically deployed. The cells and the cadres are rehearsed carefully, as proved in Madrid and Bogota.

The Church, aside from being the arch foe of those who seek to destroy the world, is it at the same time a sage and seasoned ally of those temporal forces dedicated to peace.

POLIO MESSAGE TO PARENTS

Gamma Globulin - 1953

What is gamma globulin?

Gamma globulin is the part of human blood that contains disease-fighting antibodies. It has been used for many years to combat measles and infectious hepatitis (jaundice). In 1952, March of Dimes scientists proved it to be an effective but temporary preventive of crippling caused by polio.

Can our children get gamma globulin (GG) for polio this summer?

GG is in extremely short supply. There will be only about one million doses of GG available from now to September. There are about 46,000, 000 children and adolescents in the age groups most likely to get polio. Who will get gamma globulin this summer?

The supply will probably be used in areas where the greatest number of cases occur. Most likely public health officers working with private physicians will administer the gamma globulin.

How will gamma globulin be distributed?

The Office of Defense Mobilization (ODM), a governmental agency, is solely responsible for the distribution of the nation's supply of gamma globulin through the state and territorial health officers. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has no gamma globulin.

Can we buy GG?

You should not be able to buy it anywhere. See your doctor. If it is possible for your child to have GG, it will be allocated to him through the health office. There will be no charge for this GG. A private physician, however, may charge for his services in giving it. All commercially produced GG made from blood other than that donated to the Red Cross, is being purchased for the nation's stockpile by the National Foundation at an estimated cost of $11,000,000 in March of Dimes funds.

Why is it necessary to control all gamma globulin?

It has been shown to be effective against three diseases—measles, infectious hepatitis and polio—and there is not enough GG available to treat all people who might get these diseases. Nor do manufacturers have enough equipment to increase production of GG this year. By placing all GG in one stockpile, it will be possible to prevent the maximum amount of disease with the limited supplies on hand.

What's being done to get the most use out of GG supplies?

Effective use of GG in 1953 is based on the following 3-point program:

1. Gathering of all available GG supplies into a national stockpile;
2. Allocation of GG to persons and areas where it will be most effective;
3. Teamwork by health authorities, physicians, public and private agencies, and BY YOU AND YOUR NEIGHBORS to assure community understanding and avoid unreasonable demands for gamma globulin.

How much blood does it take to make one GG shot?

One pint of blood yields just about the amount needed for an average GG polio-shot. The same pint furnishes serum albumin for the treatment of wounded servicemen.

YANKS WIN NINE STRAIGHT
Peters Belts Two Homers

"Fergie"
June 30. The Yankees rolled to their eighth straight victory tonight, as they pounded the Indians for 14 hits, including two home runs by Joe Peters. They downed the Tribe 14-3.

Peters hit his fourth home run of the year, in the third, with one on, and followed suit in the fourth as he belted his fifth round tripper of the year, tying him with Butch Casey of the Red Sox for the HR lead.

Junior Monteiro allowed only four hits, in going the distance, on the mound for the Yankees.

Danny Bemis was the starting pitcher for the Indians, but was involved in a collision at third base in the fourth inning, and was replaced by Stan Ashdown. Bemis got the loss.

Bemis collided with Eddie Downs, as the latter was going for third, following a teammate's single. Danny held on to the ball, for the third out, but received a shaking up.

OF*"SCHOOL TAX RATE"

Due to a difference in the interpretation of the formula in the new law, G. L. Chapter 59, Section 230, the so-called "School Tax Rate," should read, $12.88 and the General Tax Rate $33.12 making a total of $46.00 per thousand.

The purpose of the "School Tax Rate" is to show the relative cost of the school department as compared with all other departments and is purely for information only. It in no way affects the overall tax rate as determined by the Board of Assessors.
